PART III MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION

- 9. (1) A segregated accounts company shall —

(5) Any provision in the articles of a segregated accounts company or the governing instrument in respect of a segregated account, and any other contractual provision under which the segregated accounts company may be liable, which purports to indemnify directors in respect of conduct which would otherwise disentitle them to an indemnity against the assets of the general account by virtue of subsection (2)(ii), shall be void.

counterparty will not have recourse to, the assets which are linked to any other segregated account or to the general account.

(5) For the avoidance of doubt, it is hereby declared that any provision of a contract or governing instrument relating to the segregation of assets or liabilities of a segregated account shall be governed by and construed in accordance with this Act, and the parties may not contract otherwise in such regard.

In any case where a segregated accounts company in respect of a segregated account has share capital, if authorised by a resolution of the account owners of the segregated account to which the shares are linked and subject to the governing instrument in relation to that segregated account, on such terms as it may decide, the company may reduce its capital in any way, and in particular, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, may —

Reductions of capital of a segregated account.

- (a) extinguish or reduce the liability on any of its shares in respect of share capital not paid up;
- (b) either with or without extinguishing or reducing liability on any of its shares, cancel any paid up share capital which is lost or unrepresented by available assets; or
- (c) either with or without extinguishing or reducing liability on any of its shares, pay off any paid up share capital that is in excess of the requirements of the company, and may, so far as is necessary, alter its memorandum accordingly.

17. Where a segregated accounts company passes a resolution approving a reduction of capital pursuant to section 16, it shall apply to the court for an order confirming the reduction.

Application to court for confirming order.

18. (1) Subject to subsection (2), where the proposed reduction of share capital in respect of a segregated account involves either a decrease in liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any account owner of any paid-up share capital in respect of a segregated account, and in any other case if the court so directs —

Court directs a list of creditors entitled to object.

- (a) every creditor of the segregated account who at the date fixed by the court shall be entitled to any debt or claim which, if that date were the commencement of the winding up of the segregated account, would be admissible in proof against the company, shall be entitled to object to the reduction;

- (b) the court, unless satisfied on affidavit that there are no such creditors, shall settle a list of creditors so entitled to object, and for that purpose shall ascertain, as far as possible without requiring an application from any creditor, the names of those creditors and the nature and amount of their debts or claims, and may publish notices fixing a day within which creditors not entered on the list are to be excluded from the right of objecting to the reduction; and
- (c) where a creditor entered on the list, whose debt or claim is not discharged or has not determined, does not consent to the reduction, the court may, if it thinks fit, dispense with the consent of that creditor, on the company securing payment of his debt or claim by appropriating, as the court may direct, the following amount —
 - (i) if the company admits the full amount of the debt or claim, or, though not admitting it, is willing to provide for it then the full amount of the debt or claim; and
 - (ii) if the company does not admit and is not willing to provide for the full amount of the debt or claim, or if the amount is contingent or not ascertained, then an amount fixed by the court after the like inquiry and adjudication as if the company were being wound up by the court.

(2) The court may, having regard to any special circumstances of the case, direct that subsection (1) shall not apply as regards any class or any classes of creditors in respect of a segregated account.

19. (1) The court, if satisfied with respect to every creditor of a segregated account who under section 18 is entitled to object to the reduction that either his consent to the reduction has been obtained or his debt or claim has been discharged or has determined, or has been secured, may make any order confirming the reduction on such terms and conditions it thinks fit.

Order of court confirming reduction.

(2) Where the court makes an order under subsection (1) it may —

- (a) if for any special reason it thinks proper to do so, make an order directing that the company shall, during such period, commencing on or at any time after the date of the order, as is specified by the order, add to its name as the last words thereof the words “and reduced”; and
- (b) make an order requiring the company to publish as the court directs the reasons for reduction or such other information in regard thereto as the court may think expedient with a view to giving proper information to the public, and, if the court thinks fit, the causes which led to the reduction.

(3) Where a company is ordered to add to its name the words “and reduced” those words shall, until the expiration of the period, if any, specified in the order, be deemed to be part of the name of the company.

20. (1) The Registrar, on production to him of an order of the court confirming the reduction of the share capital of a segregated account, and the delivery to him of a copy of the order and a minute approved by the court showing, with respect to the share capital of the segregated account as altered by the order, the amount of the share capital, the number of shares into which it is to be divided, and the amount of each share, and the amount, if any, at the date of registration deemed to be paid-up on each share, shall register the order and minute.

The Registrar to register the order and minute.

(2) On the registration of the order and minute, the resolution for reducing share capital in respect of a segregated account as confirmed by the order so registered shall take effect.

(3) Notice of the registration shall be published in such manner as the court directs.

(4) The Registrar shall certify under his hand the registration of the order and minute, and his certificate shall constitute conclusive evidence that the requirements of this Act with respect to reduction of share capital have been complied with, and that the share capital of the segregated account is such as is stated in the minute.

(5) The minute when registered shall be deemed, so far as is necessary to be substituted for the corresponding part of the memorandum, and shall be valid and alterable as if it had been originally contained therein.

(6) The substitution of any such minute for part of the memorandum of the company shall be deemed so far as is necessary to be an alteration of the memorandum within the meaning of section 29 of the Companies Act.

Ch. 308.

Contributories liable to pay debt of creditors of altered

21. (1) Subject to subsection (2) in the case of a reduction of share capital in respect of a segregated account an account owner of the segregated account, past or present, shall not be liable in respect of any share to any call or contribution exceeding in amount the difference, if any, between the amount of the share as fixed by the minute and the amount paid, or the reduced amount if any, which is to be deemed to have been paid, on the share.

(2) If any creditor, entitled in respect of any debt or claim to object to the reduction of share capital in respect of a segregated account is, by reason of his ignorance of the proceedings for reduction or of their nature and effect with respect to his claim, not entered on the list of creditors, and immediately after the reduction, the segregated account is unable, within the meaning of the provisions of this Act with respect to winding up by the court, to pay the amount of his debt or claim, then —

- (a) every person who was an account owner of the segregated account at the date of the registration of the order for reduction and the minute, shall be liable to contribute for the payment of that debt or claim an amount not exceeding the amount, if any, which he would have been liable to contribute if the company had commenced to be wound up on the day before the said date; and
- (b) if the company is wound up, the court, on the application of any such creditor and proof of his ignorance, may if it thinks fit, settle accordingly a list of persons so liable to contribute, and make and enforce calls and orders, on the contributories settled on the list as if they were ordinary contributories in a winding up.

(3) Nothing in subsections (1) and (2) shall affect the rights of the contributories among themselves.

(4) Any officer of a segregated accounts company who —

- (a) wilfully conceals the name of any creditor entitled to object to a reduction of capital of a segregated account;
 - (b) wilfully misrepresents the nature or amount of the debt or claim of any such creditor; or
 - (c) aids, abets or is privy to any such concealment or misrepresentation as is described in paragraph (a) or (b), is guilty of an offence and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars or to imprisonment for two years, or to both.

22. Sections 16 to 21 (inclusive) shall not apply to a segregated accounts company to which the International Business Companies Act applies.

Non-application of Act to a SAC to which IBC Act applies.
Ch. 309.

23. (1) In any case where the International Business Companies Act applies to a segregated accounts company and, in respect of a segregated account's share capital, if authorised by a resolution of the directors and subject to the governing instrument in relation to that segregated account, on such terms as it may decide, the company may reduce its capital in any way, and in particular, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, by —

Application of IBC Act to reductions of capital of a segregated account.
Ch. 309.

- (a) returning to account owners any amount received by the company upon the issue of any of its shares, the amount being surplus to the company;
- (b) cancelling any capital that is lost or not represented by assets having a realisable value; or
- (c) transferring capital to surplus for the purpose of purchasing, redeeming or otherwise acquiring shares that the directors have resolved to purchase, redeem or otherwise acquire; and
- (d) cancel any capital that is lost or not represented by assets having a realisable value.

(2) Where a segregated accounts company reduces its capital pursuant to subsection (1), no reduction of capital shall be effected unless the directors determine that immediately after the reduction —

- (a) the segregated account will be able to satisfy its liabilities as they become due in the ordinary course of its business; or
- (b) the realisable value of the assets of the segregated account will not be less than its total liabilities, other than deferred taxes, as shown in the books of account, and its remaining issued and outstanding share capital, and in the absence of fraud, the decision of the directors as to the realisable value of the assets of the segregated account is conclusive unless a question of law is involved.

Accounts' records.

24. (1) A segregated accounts company shall —

- (a) maintain records in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles used in the preparation of the financial statements of the company so that the records shall, to the best of the knowledge, information and belief of the directors and officers of the company, clearly show the share capital (if any), proceeds of rights, issues, securities, reserves, assets, liabilities, income and expenses, dividends and distributions that are linked to each segregated account;
- (b) maintain a record of each transaction entered into by the company; and
- (c) maintain a general account with records in accordance with this Act and with all of the assets and liabilities of the company which are not linked to a segregated account and which discloses any assets intended by the parties to be applied to a risk of any nature, and which therefore exposes such assets to liability or loss.

(2) The records maintained with respect to a segregated account may be inspected by any account owner of that segregated account, but an account owner shall not have a right to inspect the records relating to any other segregated account or (in such capacity) the general account.

Financial statements of a segregated account.

25. (1) A segregated accounts company shall prepare or cause to be prepared financial statements in respect of each segregated account provided that the account owner of a segregated account may agree in writing to waive his right to have laid before a general meeting financial statements or the auditor's report thereon for an indefinite period but such waiver shall be expressed to be revocable at the option of such account owner.

(2) Subject to subsection (1), a copy of the financial statements of a segregated account shall be made available to the account owner of a segregated account at such intervals and for such periods as are agreed between the company and the account owner of the segregated account, but in any event shall be made available not less frequently than once in each financial year.

26. If —

(a) the records maintained with respect to a segregated account; or

(b) the financial statements of a segregated account, are not made available for the inspection by any account owner of that segregated account, the court may, on application by the affected account owner, by order compel immediate production of the records or financial statements.

Court may order immediate production of statements.

27. (1) A segregated accounts company shall maintain a register of account owners setting out their respective interests in any segregated account together with the particulars required in respect of members of the company as set out in section 56(1) of the Companies Act, or section 29(1) of the International Business Companies Act, (as the case may be).

Register of owners of segregated accounts.

Ch. 308.
Ch. 309.

(2) The register of account owners shall not be open to inspection, provided that an account owner shall be entitled to receive a copy of the information in the register pertaining to his interest in the company.

(3) The register of account owners shall be prima facie evidence of any matters by this Act directed or authorised to be inserted therein.

(4) A segregated accounts company must file the number of segregated accounts it has with the Registrar so that fees can be properly assessed.

28. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the establishment of a segregated account does not create a legal person distinct from the company.

Nature of segregated accounts.

(2) Notwithstanding any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, but subject to this Act, any liability linked to a segregated account shall be a liability only of that account and not the liability of any other account and the rights of creditors in respect of such liabilities shall be rights only in respect of the relevant account and not of any other account, and, for the avoidance of doubt, any asset which is linked by a segregated accounts company to a segregated account —

- (a) shall be held by the company as a separate fund which is —
 - (i) not part of the general account and shall be held exclusively for the benefit of the account owners of the segregated account and any counterparty to a transaction linked to that segregated account; and
 - (ii) available only to meet rights of the account owners and liabilities to creditors of that segregated account; and
- (b) shall not be available or used to meet liabilities to, and shall be absolutely and for all purposes protected from, the general shareholders and from the creditors of the company who are not creditors with claims linked to segregated accounts.

Assets of the general accounts.

Ch. 308.
Ch. 309

29. (1) For the purposes of this Act, the Companies Act and the International Business Companies Act, the assets recorded in the general account shall be the only assets of a segregated accounts company available to meet liabilities of the company that are not linked to a segregated account.

(2) No assets of the general account may be transferred from the general account to a segregated account unless, on the date from which the transfer is to be effective, and taking into account that transfer, the general account is solvent or all the shareholders and creditors of the general account on that date have expressed in writing their concurrence to the transfer, and in the event a transfer is made to a segregated account in breach of this subsection, on an application by an affected party, the court may declare that the transfer is void, without prejudice to the rights of bona fide purchasers for value without notice.

Liability of a
segregated
company.

30. (1) Unless otherwise expressly agreed in writing by the affected parties —

- (a) by virtue of one or more contracts, governing instruments or other documents which are binding on those parties in relation to the affected segregated accounts or general account, and which are executed by parties having authority in relation to those accounts, where a liability of a segregated accounts company to a person arises from a transaction or matter relating to, or is otherwise imposed in respect of or attributable to, a particular segregated account, that liability shall —

- (b) extend only to, and that person shall, in respect of that liability, be entitled to have recourse only to, the assets linked to that segregated account;
- (c) not extend to, and that person shall not, in respect of that liability, be entitled to have recourse to, the assets linked to any other segregated account; and
- (d) not extend to, and that person shall not in respect of that liability, be entitled to have recourse to, the general account.

(2) Where a liability of a segregated accounts company to a person —

- (a) arises otherwise than in respect of a particular segregated account; or
- (b) is imposed otherwise than in respect of a particular segregated account, that liability shall extend only to, and that person shall, in respect of that liability, be entitled to have recourse only to, the general account.

31. (1) In the event that a segregated account has insufficient assets to pay all its obligations in full, the order and priority of the rights in relation to assets linked to a segregated account shall (without prejudice to the rights of any parties holding valid security interests against assets linked to that segregated account and any valid preferential claims in respect of that segregated account) be determined by the terms of the governing instrument and any contracts pertaining to that account, and any ambiguity in respect of the order and priority rights shall be resolved as follows:

- (a) the claims of creditors shall rank ahead of the claims of account owners;
- (b) the claims of creditors amongst themselves shall rank equally; and
- (c) the claims of account owners amongst themselves shall rank equally.

Priority rights of parties to segregated accounts.

(2) A segregated accounts company may, with the consent in writing of all account owners of, and counterparties who are creditors with claims linked to, a given segregated account, transfer to the general account or another segregated account an asset from the segregated account to which it is linked, if the segregated account to which such asset is linked, taking into account the proposed transfer, remains solvent, and, in the event a transfer is made to the general account or another segregated account in breach of this subsection, on an application by an affected party, the court may declare that the transfer is void, without prejudice to the rights of bona fide purchasers for value without notice.

(3) Any asset transferred in accordance with subsection (2) shall cease to be linked to the segregated account from which it was transferred on the date of the transfer.

(4) Subject to the terms of the governing instrument relating to a given segregated account, on dissolution of the company or termination of the segregated account and after paying creditors of the segregated account, any property linked to that segregated account shall be paid pro rata to the account owners of such segregated account or, if there are no account owners, shall be deemed to fall into the general account.

(5) Without prejudice to the rights of parties to resolve disputes by reference to arbitration or to the court, where —

- (a) there is, on grounds that are reasonable, uncertainty as to whether any given interest in a segregated account is an interest as a counterparty or an interest as an account owner, that interest shall be deemed to be an interest as a counterparty; and
- (b) a given liability is not linked to a particular segregated account, or where there is, on grounds that are reasonable, uncertainty as to whether the liability is linked to a segregated account, that liability shall be deemed to be the liability of the general account.

Internal
transactions.

32. (1) Notwithstanding any enactment or rule of law to the contrary —

- (a) a segregated accounts company acting in respect of the general account may enter into transactions with the company acting in respect of one or more segregated accounts; and
 - (b) a segregated accounts company acting in respect of a segregated account may enter into transactions with the company acting in respect of one or more other segregated accounts.
- (2) For the avoidance of doubt —
 - (a) a transaction referred to in subsection (1); and
 - (b) any transaction between the company in respect of one segregated account and a third party, shall have effect or otherwise as the transaction would have done under the general law if the transaction had been entered into between the company and a third party, and without restricting the generality of the foregoing —

- (c) such a transaction shall be void, at the instance of any creditor of the company in respect of the relevant segregated account or at the instance of the company itself in respect of the relevant segregated account or at the instance of any other person if the transaction would have been void, by such person under any rule of law which would have applied to the transaction if the transaction had been entered into between the company and a third party in the same circumstances; and
 - (d) an account owner, counterparty, or receiver of any given segregated account shall have standing to pursue, on behalf of the relevant segregated account, any rights of action (including recourse to arbitration under section 33) available to the company in respect of that segregated account pursuant to this section.
- (3) Notwithstanding any enactment or rule of law to the contrary —
 - (a) where a manager or officer of or other person on behalf of a segregated accounts company or a segregated account is also acting in respect of the general account and one or more of the segregated accounts or in respect of two or more segregated accounts which are entering into a transaction, he may so act notwithstanding any material interests or conflicts which may exist as between the manager, officer or directors or which any of them may have in acting in respect of such accounts; and

- (b) where —
- (i) a given segregated account enters into a transaction as described in paragraph (a);
 - (ii) the manager, officer or such other person has disclosed in writing to the company the nature and extent of their interest; and
 - (iii) the governing instrument of the segregated account so authorises, or a majority of the account owners consent in writing to the entry into of such a transaction, then the manager, officer or such other person, the company and the company in respect of any segregated accounts shall not be held liable to the company in respect of that segregated account or any of its account owners in respect of any conflict of interest arising in relation to the transaction.

Arbitration.

33. (1) Any dispute which arises in connection with a transaction under section 32(1) —

- (a) as between the company in respect of a given segregated account and the company in respect of any one or more other segregated accounts; or
- (b) as between the company in respect of the general account and the company in respect of one or more segregated accounts, may be referred to the court or may be submitted to arbitration under the Arbitration Act.

Ch.180.

(2) If the managers, officers, attorneys-at-law or others representing the company in respect of the separate interests of the affected accounts cannot agree on whether a particular matter should be referred to court or to arbitration, then that matter shall be referred to court.

Creditor enforcement rights limited to account assets.

34. (1) There shall be implied (except in so far as the same is expressly excluded in writing) in every contract and governing instrument entered into by a segregated accounts company the following terms —

- (a) that no party shall seek, whether in any proceedings or by any other means whatsoever or wheresoever, to make or attempt to make liable any assets attributable to any segregated

- account of the company in respect of a liability not attributable to that segregated account;
- (b) that if any party shall succeed by any means whatsoever or wheresoever in making liable any assets attributable to any segregated account of the company in respect of a liability not attributable to that segregated account, that party shall be liable to the company to pay a sum equal to the value of the benefit thereby obtained by him; and
 - (c) that if any party shall succeed in seizing or attaching by any means or otherwise levying execution against any assets attributable to any segregated account of the company in respect of liability not attributable to that segregated account, that party shall hold those assets or their proceeds on trust for the company and shall keep those assets or proceeds separate and identifiable as such trust property.
- (2) All sums recovered by a segregated accounts company as a result of any such trust as is described in subsection (1)(c) shall be credited against any concurrent liability pursuant to the implied term set out in subsection (1)(b).
- (3) Any asset or sum recovered by a segregated accounts company pursuant to the implied term set out in subsection (1)(b) or (1)(c) or by any other means whatsoever or wheresoever in the events referred to in those subsections shall, after the deduction or payment of any costs of recovery, be applied by the company so as to compensate the segregated account affected.
- (4) Notwithstanding sections 29(2) and 31(2), in the event of any assets attributable to a segregated account being taken in execution in respect of a liability not attributable to that segregated account, and in so far as such assets or compensation in respect thereof cannot otherwise be restored to the segregated account affected, the company shall —
- (a) cause or procure its auditor, acting as expert and not as arbitrator, to certify the value of the assets lost to the segregated account affected; and
 - (b) in priority to all other claims against the account transfer or pay, from the assets of the account to which the liability was attributable to the segregated account affected, assets or sums sufficient to restore to the segregated account affected the value of the assets lost.

Legal rights and obligations of a segregated accounts company.

35. (1) Notwithstanding any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, any asset of a segregated accounts company which is linked to a particular segregated account is deemed to be owned by the company as a separate fund which is not part of the general account and which is not part of the company's own assets.

(2) Except to the extent otherwise provided in the governing instrument, the account owners are entitled to the same limitation of personal liability as is enjoyed by members of companies limited by shares under the Companies Act or the International Business Companies Act.

Ch. 308.
Ch. 309.

- (3) A segregated accounts company may —
- (a) sue and be sued in respect of a particular segregated account, and service of process upon the company in accordance with subsection (5) shall be sufficient;
 - (b) be sued for debts and other obligations or liabilities contracted or incurred by the company in respect of a particular segregated account, and for any damages to persons or property resulting from the negligence of the company acting in the performance of duties with respect to that account; and
 - (c) exercise the same rights of set-off (if any) as between accounts as apply under the general law in respect of companies, including, on an insolvent liquidation of the company, the same rights of set-off which arise in an insolvent liquidation of a company.

(4) The property of a segregated account is subject to orders of the court as it would have been if the segregated account were a separate legal person (and notwithstanding that it is not a separate legal person).

(5) A segregated accounts company may be served with process in the manner prescribed by the Companies Act, or the International Business Companies Act, in all civil actions or proceedings involving or relating to the activities of a segregated account or a breach by the company of a duty to the segregated account, or to any account owner thereof or to a counterparty to a transaction linked thereto.

36. (1) Except to the extent it may be agreed otherwise by virtue of the governing instrument or contract an account owner of a segregated account shall have an undivided beneficial interest in the assets linked to a segregated account, and, after satisfying in full the claims of creditors of the segregated account, account owners shall share in the profits and losses of the segregated account in such proportions of the residual undivided beneficial interest in the segregated account owned by that account owner as may be specified in any governing instrument relating to such segregated account.

Account owners beneficial interests in segregated
account.

(2) An account owner's beneficial interest in a segregated account is personal property notwithstanding the nature of the property of the segregated account.

(3) Except to the extent it may be agreed otherwise by virtue of the governing instrument or contract, an account owner has no interest in specific segregated account property.

(4) Except to the extent it may be agreed otherwise by virtue of the governing instrument or contract, an account owner's beneficial interest in the segregated account is freely transferable.

(5) Subject to the company complying with section 15, and except to the extent it may be agreed otherwise by virtue of the governing instrument or contract, at the time an account owner becomes entitled to receive a payment, distribution, allocation or dividend pursuant to any governing instrument, he has the status of, and is entitled to all remedies available to, a creditor of the segregated account with respect to the payment, distribution, allocation or dividend, and the governing instrument or contract may provide for the establishment of record dates with respect to such payment, distribution, allocation or dividend.

37. (1) To the extent that, at law or in equity, a segregated accounts company or manager has duties (including fiduciary duties) and liabilities relating to a segregated account or to an account owner or to a counterparty —

Remedies in law and equity for parties of a segregated
account.

(a) that company or manager acting under a governing instrument or contract is not liable to the segregated account or to any account owner or counterparty for the company's good faith reliance on the provisions of that governing instrument or contract to which that account owner or counterparty is a party; and

- (b) the company's or manager's duties and liabilities may be expanded or restricted by provisions in a governing instrument to which the person is a party.

(2) Subject to section 34(1)(c) and (2), the provisions of this section shall operate to the exclusion of any rule of law relating to trusts dealing with the same subject matter, and no rule of law relating to trusts may be pleaded by any person to augment or modify the operation of this Act, but nothing in this section shall be construed so as to deny —

- (a) the remedy of tracing in law and in equity the assets or the proceeds of the assets of any segregated account where such assets or proceeds have been commingled with the assets of any other segregated account or the general account; or
- (b) any remedies available under the doctrine of constructive trusts or similar equitable remedies where those remedies would otherwise be available.

(3) To the extent permitted in the governing instruments of the affected segregated accounts, the company in respect of a segregated account may be an account owner of one or more other segregated accounts of the same segregated accounts company.

PART IV RECEIVERSHIP AND WINDING UP

orders.

38. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, if, in relation to a segregated accounts company, the court is satisfied that —

- (a) a particular segregated account is not solvent, the general account is not solvent, a liquidation has been commenced in relation to the company, or for other reasons it appears to the court just and equitable that a receiver should be appointed; and

- (b) the making of a receivership order under this section would achieve the purposes set out in subsection (3), the court may make a receivership order in respect of that segregated account.

(2) A receivership order may be made in respect of one or more segregated accounts.

(3) A receivership order shall direct that the business and assets linked to a segregated account shall be managed by a receiver specified in the order for the purpose of —

- (a) the orderly management, sale, rehabilitation, run-off or termination of the business of, or attributable to, the segregated account; or
- (b) the distribution of the assets linked to the segregated account to those entitled thereto.

(4) No resolution for the winding up of a segregated accounts company of which any segregated account is subject to a receivership order shall be effective without leave of the court.

39. (1) An application for a receivership order in respect of a segregated account may be made by —

Application for receivership orders.

- (a) the company;
- (b) the directors of the company;
- (c) any creditor of the company in respect of that segregated account; or
- (d) any account owner of that segregated account; or
- (e) the primary regulator.

(2) The court, on hearing an application —

- (a) for a receivership order; or
- (b) for leave, pursuant to section 38(4), for a resolution for winding up, may make an interim order or adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally.

(3) Notice of an application to the court for a receivership order in respect of a segregated account shall be served upon —

- (a) the company;
- (b) the primary regulator; and

- (c) such other persons (if any) as the court may direct,

each of whom shall be given an opportunity to make representations to the court before the order is made.

Parties of segregated accounts company may appoint a receiver.

40. The account owners of a segregated account or the directors of the company may by resolution voluntarily appoint a receiver in respect of the segregated account.

41. (1) The receiver of a segregated account —

- (a) may do all such things as may be necessary for the purposes set out in section 38(3); and
 (b) shall have all the functions and powers of the directors and managers of the company in respect of the business and assets linked to the segregated account.

(2) The receiver may at any time apply to the court for —

- (a) directions as to the extent or exercise of any function or power; or
 (b) the receivership order to be discharged or varied.

(3) In exercising his functions or powers the receiver is deemed to act as the agent of the company in respect of the segregated account, and does not incur personal liability except to the extent that his conduct amounts to misfeasance.

(4) Any person dealing with the receiver in good faith is not concerned to enquire whether the receiver is acting within his powers.

(5) During the period of operation of a receivership order the functions and powers of the directors and managers and any liquidator of the company cease in respect of the business and assets linked to the segregated account in respect of which the order was made.

(6) At any time after the appointment of a receiver in respect of a segregated account, the company or any account owner or creditor of that account may, where an action or proceeding against the company in respect of that account is pending, apply to the court for a stay of those proceedings, and, on such an application being made, the court may stay the proceedings accordingly on such terms as it thinks fit.

(7) The appointment of a receiver shall not act as a stay of execution against a counterparty with a valid security interest over the segregated account and such counterparty may enforce his security interest in accordance with its terms subject to applicable law.

42. (1) The court shall not discharge a receivership order unless it appears to the court that the purpose for which the order was made has been achieved or substantially achieved or is incapable of achievement.

Discharge and variation of a receivership order.

(2) The court, on hearing an application for the discharge or variation of a receivership order, may make any interim order it thinks fit or adjourn the hearing, conditionally or unconditionally.

(3) When making an order discharging the receiver, the court may release the receiver from liability save in respect of misfeasance.
